Consider the Lilies

In the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus gives us a simple task that is quite significant. Because this sermon is full of grand statements and challenging commands, we may overlook what might seem to be a minor imperative.

“Observe how the lilies of the field grow; they do not toil nor do they spin,” (Matthew 6:28)

If we were to rank everything we are to do in the Sermon on the Mount in order of importance, “observe the lilies” would probably be near the bottom of most people's lists. And yet, it is when we stop to observe the lilies that we remember that God is in control.

Too often, things in this world that are extraordinary become common to us. Buildings obscure our view of the sunset. The glimmer in a drop of dew is so small we don't notice. We pass by beautiful flowers in a field at 70 mph. Sometimes we are too busy staring at a screen to see the child vying for attention right in front of us. Jesus commands us to stop and pay attention. We need to stop each day, look around, and be reminded that God has created an amazing world that we are blessed to be a part of, and He is in control of every inch of it...praise God!
