Love Others

"Owe nothing to anyone except to love one another; for he who loves his neighbor has fulfilled the law...Love does no wrong to a neighbor; therefore love is the fulfillment of the law." (Romans 13:8,10)

You might find it difficult to know how to respond or what to say to someone who sees the world differently than you do. The other person likely feels the same way. They are probably asking the same questions you are asking: "What do I do? What do I say?"

How do I treat my neighbor?"

Paul gives us the answer to these questions in Romans 13. We are to love our neighbors. We may not have all the answers for how to live in a diverse society, but we know we are to love. No matter what my neighbor believes, who he votes for, what bumper stickers he chooses to place on his car, etc., it is my responsibility as a follower of God to love him.

Sometimes we make life more complicated than it needs to be. When people are angry, they need love. When people are upset, they need love. When people are tempted to hate, they need love. When people are confused, they need love. When people are looking for answers, they need love. God will sort out the mess. That is not our responsibility. Our responsibility is to love.
